Named one of America's Greatest Workplaces for Diversity

Fairview Health Services was named on Newsweek's "America's Greatest Workplaces 2023 for Diversity" list, one of 1,000 organizations across 34 industries nationwide. The rankings were based on public data, interviews with HR professionals, and an anonymous online employee survey fielded by Plant-A Insights Group.

The methodology for Newsweek's America's Greatest Workplaces for Diversity 2023 is based on a three-part evaluation. The first was a pre-study survey that asked HR professionals to identify current and future employee satisfaction drivers. The second phase was the main employee survey which asked for either a direct recommendation for a company they work for or an indirect recommendation for companies they've known as an employer. The independent study collected over 350,000 company reviews. During this survey, personal data was gathered which was then used to weigh responses from diverse target groups.

Newsweek collected over 350,000 company reviews from employees of companies with >1,000 employees in America.
